About The Andersons, Inc.

The Andersons, Inc. is a leading, nimble North America-focused Ag Supply Chain company focused on agribusiness and renewable fuels. In Agribusiness, the company is a top-five U.S. grain and ingredients merchandiser with a broad network of storage, handling, and transload assets, complemented by a diverse fertilizer platform. In Renewables, The Andersons is the fifth-largest U.S. ethanol producer, refining corn into ethanol and other high-value co-products while supplying low-carbon-intensity feedstocks to the renewable diesel market. Well positioned to capitalize on industry tailwinds such as higher ethanol blending rates, export growth, and supportive biofuels policy, the company leverages its integrated supply chain to connect production to demand across food, feed, and fuel markets.
