About Sensient Technologies

Sensient is a small cap food and wellness ingredient company serving small and mid-size food and consumer products companies – historically the most innovation-driven part of the customer base. Sensient has leading positions in natural ingredients and flavors, two of the fastest growing trends in food, as well as a strong position in probiotics, which are increasingly used in food and supplement products. Sensient is also a market leader in color ingredients for food and beverage and personal care products, with strong positions in both traditional and natural color products.
